

Palm Sunday Disaster Toll Continues to Rise

Report Is 248 Dead,
5,000 Hurt

The Midwest was still counting its dead today as the Palm Sunday tornadoes claimed their 248th victim. Many more were missing in the stricken six-state area.

The Red Cross said at least 5,000 persons were injured. Incomplete estimates listed damage at $237 million.

Officials in Indiana, where 141 persons were battered to death by a series of twisters, combed through debris in fields, homes and businesses in a hunt for more victims.

"I think we'll find more bodies," predicted Sheriff Wood L. Caton of Elkhart County, Ind. The tornadoes claimed 65 victims in the county, 45 of them within one square mile.

Similar Situations

Similar searches, coupled with vast cleanup operations, took place in Ohio and Michigan, where the grim Sunday twisters claimed 53 and 44 deaths, respectively.

Seven persons were killed in Illinois and three in Wisconsin. A tornado seriously injured an Iowa farmer but no deaths were reported there.

The cleanup operations were hampered by power shortages, damaged communication systems, highways strewn with debris and, in many places, heavy looting.

Hospitals and families were plagued by the possibility of water shortages and health perils. Many pumping systems failed to operate.

Mississippi Floods

As the search for more twister victims went on, officials in Minnesota battled to contain the Mississippi River, which threatened to overflow at record heights.

Riverfront businesses shut down, employees stayed away from work and school children from school as the flood threat grew in the St. Paul, Minn., area.

At least six persons have been killed and 20,000 made homeless by Minnesota and Wisconsin floods.

The Palm Sunday tornadoes first were sighted in Iowa and

Office Hot Shot May be Chronic Anxiety Victim

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — You know the guy who always gets to work on time and does his job well — makes the rest of us look like slobbers? Well, the poor fellow may be suffering from chronic anxiety.

The chronically anxious feel miserable, but they are physically, intellectually, emotionally and socially above average, Dr. Herman A. Dickel, University of Oregon Medical School psychiatry professor, said Monday.

The chronically anxious patient was described and methods of treatment were outlined by the psychiatrist at the annual convention and scientific assembly of the American Academy of General Practice.

Anxiety and fear are the same, Dickel said. When a person bottles up his emotions but forces himself to keep going while holding back, he is a typical victim of chronic anxiety.

Mexican Police Raid Leftists

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Police raided the headquarters of the Mexican Communist party and two other leftist groups Monday night and arrested a number of persons said to have been planning "anti-social acts of grave consequences." Unofficial reports said 30 persons were seized.

A police press release said the raid was carried out at the request of Atty. Gen. Antonio Rocha.

La Crosse Expecting Worst

State Floods May Be Nearing Peak

Many Wisconsin communities braced for the full force of mounting flood waters today as tornado-raked areas in the southern part of the state continued a monumental mop-up task.

The Mississippi River inched past 13.2 feet at La Crosse with the worst yet to come. It is expected to crest in the area at 18 feet, six feet above flood level, by April 21.

La Crosse residents, mindful of the 1952 flood when the Mississippi reached a local record level of 15.3 feet, continued to prepare calmly for the greater challenge this year.

Workers constructed 750 feet of a planned two-mile dike as a primary defense on the city's north side. However, officials warned that if the Mississippi reaches 18 feet, Riverside Park in downtown La Crosse will be covered by at least four feet of water because of a backup in sewer and water mains.

Several communities north of La Crosse faced flood danger from the Mississippi and St. Croix rivers. The Stillwater bridge over the St. Croix, 11 miles north of Hudson, was closed to traffic Monday.

Schools were closed in Hudson, to permit children to remain with their families. Many homes

1st Contract Let for TFX Fighter Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has awarded its first production contract for the TFX fighter plane.

The $1.5-billion contract is for 431 planes and went to General Dynamics Corp. of Fort Worth, Tex., the same firm which developed the craft.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara chose the Texas company in 1962 over the Boeing Co. of Seattle, Wash., thus triggering a major controversy. Boeing was the lower bidder.

The first production contract is to provide 407 Air Force models, called the F111A, and 24 Navy planes, the F111B. The difference stems primarily from provisions allowing the F111B to operate from a carrier.

Ultimately, it is expected that $7 billion will be spent for 1,500 F111As and 200 F111Bs.

The plane is conceived as the standard fighter for the 1970s. It would travel at speeds of up to 1,650 miles per hour, have a ceiling above 60,000 feet and be able to cross oceans without refueling.

Warmer Weather Is Threat

River Communities Brace for Record Highs on Mississippi

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Warmer weather threatened to send additional masses of crumpling ice down Minnesota's flooded rivers today as Minneapolis and St. Paul braced for record crests on the Mississippi River.

The death toll in the week of flooding climbed to nine Monday night. Mr. and Mrs. Meriin Pierson, both about 40, and their daughter Gwen, 8, vanished when their canoe swamped under a bridge near their home at Greenbush in northwestern Minnesota.

Ice jams have caused fast rises on the Mississippi and its tributaries in the past day or two, loosing torrents of water when they crack loose.

Several barges were torn from moorings in Minneapolis. St. Paul's downtown airport, used mainly for light plane traffic, is under five feet of water. A record crest of 27 feet is due Friday, just under the top of permanent dikes and their three-foot additions.

Presidential Disability

Vital Amendment Up for House Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment to make certain that the vice president would act as president until the disability is removed.

However, should a president decline to declare himself incapacitated, the vice president and the majority of the Cabinet could give Congress a written opinion that they believe the president should be relieved of his duties temporarily. The vice president then would assume the powers of acting president.

A disabled president could determine when he was fit and ready to resume his official duties. If the vice president and majority of the Cabinet disagreed with the presidential finding, Congress would have 10 days to decide the issue. At the end of that period, the president would resume his office unless a two-thirds vote of both branches decided otherwise.

The 10-day limit on congressional action is the main difference between the Senate and the House bills. It was drafted by the House Judiciary Committee to forestall indefinite congressional delay in acting on a presidential declaration that a disabled president has been removed.

"I have not felt from our business that there has been any resistance because of the tax problem," said Ralph Beck, vice president of Davison's, another Atlanta department store. He reported dress sales have been particularly good this year.

The Ailing House

Loosened, Cracked Veneer

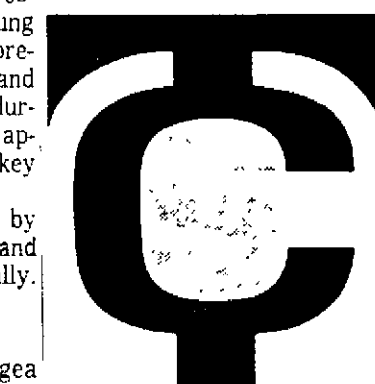

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN
Q: The veneer on the headboard of my mahogany bed is loose and cracked in many places. Can the veneered piece be removed? Or is it possible to buy another piece of veneer to put over the old cracked piece?

A: Usually, veneer glue can be softened by soaking. Try holding a steam iron near the edge of the remaining veneer, after prying off the loosened areas. Pry off loosened veneer with a putty knife or screw driver, and continue the steaming until the balance of the veneer is lifted off. Any glue particles remaining on the headboard surface can be sanded or steel-wooled off.
However, it would be much simpler to put another piece of veneer over the present one. This can be purchased at a lumber yard, or some building supplies dealers. Any loosened areas must first be glued down again, and any dents filled with plastic wood, to give a smooth, firm surface for the new layer of veneer.

Q: The slate in our foyer is coated with sealer which the tile man used. Can you recommend something to remove it? Is there anything to restore the joints between the slate pieces to white? What do you recommend on the floor to keep it shiny?

A: I don't recommend removing the sealer from the slate surface. Because of the porous nature of slate, dirt would penetrate. Try cleaning with a warm detergent solution, followed by ample rinsing with clear water to remove all trace of detergent. Then use any top quality polishing or self-polishing floor wax.

DEAR CY: Speaking humbly, my figure is outstanding and is the best part of me. Since television, there has been a trend away from billing pulchritude competitions as national peep shows. According to "criteria" for the Miss Universe pageant, "Judging should be on the basis of beauty of face, beauty of figure, charm and personality. . . . Baseball Wife Bemoans Game Oriented Existence

Editor's Note: Beginning live with a man hooked on the Monday, fathers throughout the United States started the routine of kissing their wives and children goodbye and setting down in front of their television sets. It was the opening day of the major league baseball season and the cry "Play Ball" is what the baseball addict has been waiting all winter to hear. But for wives unable to share their husband's pennant fever, it's another story. Here a baseball widow tells what it's like to

(As Told to Ken Hartnett Associated Press Writer)

BY KATIE HARTNETT
STONY CREEK, Conn. (AP) — This is the time each year that I feel the dull edge of despair creeping over my life. I know that from now until Oct. 1 I will have to live with New York Mets. It's not that I have anything against the Mets as individuals. That would be silly because I don't even know the players.

All I know is that from now on they will be around all the time and my life and my family's life will have to revolve around them.

It used to be the Giants before they moved from New York to the West Coast, and that wasn't so bad because they had Sal Maglie and Willie Mays and you could understand them because they had personalities you could sympathize with. But who plays for the Mets anyway?

Take Over Family
Not that it makes much difference. They move right in and our family has to be scheduled around them when the Mets play. Meals and family outings and all those things depend on what time the game is on. They have to take their place after baseball has taken its place.

In a way having your husband as a baseball fan is like having an alcoholic in the family. Only alcoholics can be cured.

I don't think you can have a baseball addict and be a family. Becoming a baseball fan means giving up a whole section of your personality to it. You have to be obsessed.

I know because I really tried to become a baseball fan and I couldn't do it. Once when the Giants were still in New York, I went to a night game in this old ramshackle barn of a place and it was freezing. My husband keeps talking about the game because Jackie Robinson stole home for the Dodgers.

But to be honest it happened so fast I couldn't even see what happened. All I remember is that Sal Maglie pitched and this pillar was in the way.

The Big Stretch

Somebody said that baseball is the most exciting three minutes stretched into four hours that there is in the world of sports and I believe it. Every time I try to watch a game it lasts at least 15 innings so after awhile I stopped trying to get involved. I just don't think it's worth all a woman has to go through.

And the season is so long. You say it is only six months out of the year. But when you think about it for awhile, that's half your life given up for baseball. Or anyway you can look at it in those terms.

I think one thing that could be done is that they play all their games starting at 2 o'clock in the morning. Then husbands would have the problem of finding time to sleep, but it seems to me that means choosing between a strain on the marriage and a sleepy husband and I think most wives would prefer a sleepy husband.

You say that 20 million Americans love baseball and that is true and even more than that voted for a certain presidential candidate, but that doesn't mean he's right.

Maybe I'm being unfair to baseball players who spend years learning how to do their jobs. But a lot of people spend years learning their jobs, too, and they don't have 20 million people watching them work all the time and thinking about nothing else.

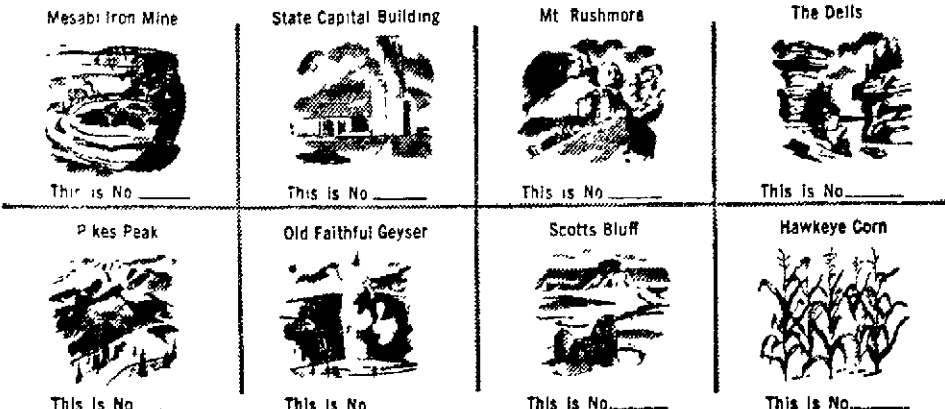

And from what I hear, the Mets don't even know their jobs, at least not all of them. I just don't understand it so I guess I'll just have to spend summer afternoons on the beach and wait until the fall.

It's a good thing they only play football on weekends.

Stepup Seen in Guerrilla Acts

Viet Cong Expected To Create Situation That Is Dangerous

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high Johnson administration official said today an upturn in Communist guerrilla activity in Viet Nam is expected in the weeks ahead and the United States is concerned at what he termed a very dangerous situation.

The official, who could not be identified by name, gave the report at the opening session of a two-day foreign policy conference of U.S. editors and broadcasters.

He emphasized that there have been no indications, private or public, from Communist North Vietnamese, Chinese Communists or the Soviet Union that the Communists are ready to restrain their attacks and reach a settlement of the Viet Nam conflict.

Rejection by Peking and Hanoi of the proposed visit by Patrick Gordon Walker, special emissary of Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson, contributed to the impression here that the Communists are following a hard line.

Spacemen Get Week to Relax

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young have ended the long process of relating every detail of their historic three-orbit space flight March 23 and will start vacations this week.

After almost a year of continuous training, the Gemini astronauts and their backup pilots, Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford, now can relax.

Grissom will fly fellow astronaut L. Gordon Cooper's private plane to Gunnison, Colo., Thursday and the 39-year-old Air Force major, his wife and two sons will spend 10 days at Crested Butte, where Grissom has a ski cabin. Young, 39, a Navy lieutenant commander, will go to Florida for his vacation.

Soviet Astronomers Retreat From Claim of Life in Space

MOSCOW (AP) — A group of Soviet astronomers beat a hasty retreat today from suggestions attributed to them Monday about another civilization in outer space.

The radio astronomers from the Sternberg Institute of Astronomy in Moscow were quoted by the Soviet news agency Tass as saying mysterious signals from outer space came from intelligent beings.

Prof. Josef S. Shklovsky, head of the radio astronomy department, said:

Interesting Facts

"The facts are very interesting. But to speak now about the artificial origin of the signals would be premature. We have to approach this question very thoroughly and very carefully."

Shklovsky made his remark at a hastily summoned news conference as astronomers throughout the world expressed doubt and amazement at the Soviet speculation about life in outer space.

The statement that "a new supercivilization has been discovered" was attributed Monday by the Soviet news agency Tass to Nikolai Kardashev, a highly regarded scientist at the Sternberg Astronomical Institute in Moscow.

Another Soviet scientist, Josef S. Shklovsky, was more cautious.

"To say the least," he said, "an absolutely new, still unknown type of cosmic object has been detected in the galaxy."

Tass said Shklovsky does not rule out the theory that it might be the "remnant of a super new star."

Need More Sturdy

Western scientists would not rule out the possibility of an intelligent form of life on a distant stellar body. But they said signals would need a lot more study before they could be accepted as proof of the existence of life elsewhere.

Tass said the fluctuating signals came from CTA102, an invisible source of radio signals first heard by giant radio telescopes in 1960. Scientists call such sources "quasars" or quasi-stellar radio sources.

The signals vary in strength and the variations are repeated regularly every 100 days, Tass reported. It said the variations had been characterized as unlike any other known radio emissions from space.

In Ithaca, N.Y., however, Dr. Frank D. Drake, associate professor of astronomy at Cornell University, said he doubted the Russians had proved the existence of intelligent beings in outer space.

"There are a number of cosmic objects whose light radiation changes in intervals of 100 days," he said. "These include some variable stars and a quasi-stellar radio source so that this variation is not good evidence of intelligent signals."

"The decision as to whether the origin is a natural or intelligent one depends on the complexity of the 'regular flickering' observed. If the 'flickering' follows a simple pattern a natural explanation is likely. If the pattern is complex and repeats itself, an intelligent origin is likely."

Dr. John Wyndham of the California Institute of Technology, who first catalogued CTA102, said he had not observed any variations from the quasar, but "if it is true that the radio emission fluctuates, this would be the first of its kind."

Palm Sunday Disaster Toll Continues Rising

then moved to the east, increasing with intensity with every strike.

Destruction was so great in some areas that officials said it was impossible to estimate damage.

Tornado Damage

Elkhart, Ind., officials placed the tornado cost at $100 million to $150 million. Ohio estimated damage at $50 million. Michigan at $20 million. Illinois at $12 million and Wisconsin at $5 million.

The barrage of tornadoes was the worst disaster in Indiana history.

Two towns, Russiaville and Alto, were completely wiped off the map.

Some highways remained blocked 36 hours after tornadoes ripped three wide swaths through the central and northern sections of Indiana.

Battered bodies, many in night clothing, packed morgues set up in high school gymnasiums and stores.

"It's as close to hell as I care to be," said one weary newsman who toured the disaster area.

Trailer Camp

Paul Huffman, a reporter-photographer for the Elkhart Truth, and his wife were driving near Dunlap when a tornado dipped into a trailer camp and killed 45 persons.

"After the funnels passed at freight-train speed, the silence was shocking," Huffman said. "I thought there must be thousands killed. The extent of damage was unbelievable. The 92 house trailers were destroyed. About a dozen were upended."

"The trailers were ripped from their frames, whirled about in the air and sent crashing to the ground," he said.

In northern Ohio, where more than 350 persons were killed and injured by hop-skipping twisters, Gov. James A. Rhodes made a sad tour of the battered areas.

Saddest Hour

Administration declared three counties disaster areas.

"When the funnel hit," said Jim Coss, 18, of Crystal Lake, "it went through like a bulldozer. I saw it go down into the Crystal Lake. The Small Business field and start tearing up trees. It threw them up into the air."

Petty thievery added to the problems of city officials.

Two persons were arrested in Crystal Lake, Ill. Looters swarmed to the Panorama Shopping Center in Marion, Ind., after the building was crushed by a tornado. They cleaned out at least $70,000 from cash registers before police chased them off with police dogs.

"This is one of Ohio's saddest hours," he said.

The toll in Toledo alone was 13 dead, 178 injured and 90 hospitalized.

"Fantastic. Unbelievable," Gov. Rhodes said. "There is nothing you can compare with it."

The town of Pittsfield, Ohio, counted nine dead. The town had a population of 50. The only thing left standing was a Civil War monument.

The black string of twisters which stabbed into lower Michigan struck hardest in a domino-like row of counties bordering Indiana and Ohio.

"There was this rumble — like a freight train — and then things started crashing and everybody hit the floor," said Fred Smoos, 28, of Grand Rapids, Mich., who was in a diner in Alpine, Ohio, when the building was hit.

Federal Aid Michigan officials looked to the government for a helping hand as the state sought to qualify for federal disaster aid.

Gov. George Romney, who flew over the 200-mile area where three lines of tornadoes attacked, said it "looked like a battlefield."

Multimillion-dollar property damage estimates were made in Kent, Allegan, Branch, Hillsdale and Lenawee counties.

Officials in Wisconsin expressed gratitude that only three persons were killed.

"We can consider ourselves fortunate that outside of Monroeville, the communities were generally spared," Gov. Warren P. Knowles said.

In Illinois, five persons were killed and 69 persons injured at or near Crystal Lake. The Small Busi-

Assembly Committee Recommends Passage Of Secrecy Measure

MADISON (AP) — The Assembly Judiciary Committee unanimously recommended today that the Legislature pass a bill to restrict secret meetings at the local government level.

The measure, introduced by Assemblyman Thomas Barland, R-Eau Claire, would require local government agencies to publicly announce the business to be discussed in a closed session. The meeting then would be limited to the items described.

Wisconsin has an anti-secrecy law that limits closed meetings of state government units to sessions in which discussion could affect the selling price of property or equipment sought by the state or generate personnel problems.

Barland's bill would place the same limitations on local government sessions, including school district meetings.

Farmers Union Raps Johnson Farm Program

CHIPPEWA FALLS (AP) — Directors of the Wisconsin Farmers Union adopted a measure Monday criticizing President Johnson's farm program for excluding any recommendation in regard to the dairy industry and asking Congress to include such provisions.

The officials asked amendments that would continue present dairy price support authority, authorize federal market orders, authorize direct support payments and permit government purchase of dairy solids in the Food for Peace program without regard to immediate objectives of the support program.

Gina Lollobrigida Gets Jewels Back

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Italian actress Gina Lollobrigida leaves Hollywood for Geneva today with her jewels — but poorer by $14,200.

Gina's jewels were attached temporarily by California tax agents. She paid her back taxes with a transfer of funds from a Swiss bank. The jewels were valued at $16,000.

The tax debt dated from 1959.

Laird Says Foreign Aid Like 'Ice Berg'

Claims Only Small Part of Uncontrolled Program Is Visible

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau WASHINGTON — The United States' foreign aid program is like an iceberg — you only see the smallest part of it, according to Rep. Milvon R. Laird, R., Marshfield.

Stressing that the foreign aid program is "uncontrolled and uncontrollable," the congressman, who is a member of the House appropriations committee, charged that "the foreign aid program we read about and talk about is not the entire foreign aid program. It is only the visible part of it."

He said there are at present "22 federal agencies that dispense some type of foreign aid," and added that the total for fiscal year 1966 "will not be $3 or $3½ billion dollars, but more on the order of $7 billion."

According to Laird, the government currently is disbursing "some kind of foreign aid" to 99 countries and nine territories.

The foreign aid program, he asserted, has been "one of the chief contributors to the constant rise in our national debt." "Your tax dollars are paying interest on the money the federal government has borrowed to finance the foreign aid program at the rate of $3½ billion a year," Laird continued. "And that is only the interest on this fantastic debt."

"Congress needs to make a deep study of the program aimed at redefining its objectives and pruning its dollar expenditures," he concluded. "I will continue to do all I can to restore sanity to our foreign aid program."

Second Lane Over Lake Not Seen Until '70

No Funds Available
Prior to That Year,
Chairman Reports

OSHKOSH — Construction of a second U.S. 41 bridge over Lake Butte des Morts here may not be undertaken before 1970. G. H. Bakke, chairman of the state highway commission has advised Assemblyman William A. Steiger.

Bakke's statement was in reply to a query from the assemblyman as to the progress toward scheduling a second roadway over the lake. In his letter, Bakke stated, "from presently existing financing, no assignment of construction funds has been made through 1970 nor can such be foreseen as of this writing. This is one of the many needed improvements which we have had to delay for lack of funds."

Bakke also stated that engineering estimated to cost about $1,000 was authorized in the current fiscal year for preliminary comparative studies of practicality and cost of roadways at various grade elevations.

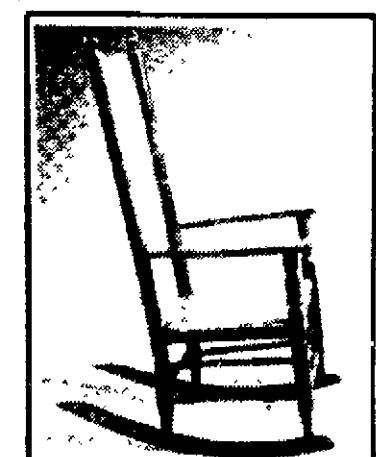

"While we know work on the report is in progress, it has not been completed and submitted to us as of this date. Upon evaluation of the various alternatives, we will undertake preliminary discussions with the Corps of Engineers and the Bureau of Public Roads," the state highway commission chairman declared.

Proxmire to Visit Site Of Flooding

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., announced today that he and a task force of federal officials will visit La Crosse, Wis., Friday morning to brief local authorities on the Mississippi River flood situation.

Proxmire said studies indicate the flood will be "the most serious" in history in the La Crosse and Prairie du Chien areas and representatives of the Army Corps of Engineers, the Small Business Administration, the Public Health Service and Bureau of Federal Roads will join in the briefings.

"The Corps of Engineers will give an up to the minute report on the status of the flood threat and what additional preventive measures can be taken," the senator said. "The other agencies will explain to the local officials what federal programs will be available to cope with the swath of destruction the flood is expected to cut."

Coast Guard Boards Soviet Fishing Vessel

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP) — Capt. Henry Keene Jr., commander of the Ketchikan Coast Guard base, said Monday that for the first time the Coast Guard boarded a Soviet fishing vessel on the high seas last month.

He said the cutter Storrs found a Soviet fishing fleet taking kung crab with tangle nets off Kodiak March 26, violating a 6-week-old Soviet-U.S. treaty. Crabs can be taken only with pots in the area.

Keene said the captain of the big Soviet factory ship Pavel Chebotovnyagin "professed to know nothing of the treaty. He immediately ordered the 12 catcher boats to haul in their nets."

the north side of the property. An athletic area, including a 3,500 seating capacity football field, will be south of the school. Original plans called for Buchanan Street to be extended south past the high school to Calumet Street. However, the city has purchased a parcel of property east of the school site which will be developed into a park. The park will be contiguous to the school property and will extend to John Street and roughly as far south as Mathias Street.

Blueprints Discussed
Schools Supt. William Spears went over blueprints of the new school Monday night for the benefit of the school board and the school advisory committee of the city council. He outlined locations of various departments, sections and features in the main, or central, section of the building, the fine arts wings, the industrial arts wing and the athletic wing.

He said plans for making the swimming pool at the southern tip of the athletic wing an indoor-outdoor pool have been dropped.

A patio had originally been planned between the pool and the grounds so it could be used from the outside as well. However, investigation has revealed that other schools with pools of this type have had problems with dirt and debris being brought in from outdoors which clogs up the pool filter system.

The patio effect will be retained, Spears said, because of a large glass area along the southern edge of the building where the pool is located.

Fifth Ward Ald Alvin E. Tews criticized the school board for not having the plan commission and the city council included in earlier discussion of the school plans.

Tews, a member of the city council's school advisory committee, said, "We could have saved two or three weeks if the council and plan commission had been to board meetings when Mr. LeVeé presented plans to the school board. This would have allowed us sufficient time to review plans and specifications."

Changes 'Difficult'
Tews said, "It will be difficult for the council to recommend any changes in plans at this time."

In a related matter, the board voted to turn over to LeVeé the responsibility of developing the outdoor athletic area. LeVeé explained a grade problem which will be encountered because there is a difference of 18 feet in grade between Fremont and Calumet Street. "You'll be looking down on the

Knowles Signs Bill on Supervisors' Selection

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles put his signature today on a bill that completely revamps the method of picking supervisors in 70 of the state's 72 counties.

The new act beats by almost seven months a deadline set on the reorganization by the State Supreme Court.

Milwaukee and Menominee counties are not affected by the act because their boards are organized under separate statutes. The county reorganization measure will put the selection of supervisors more in line with the "one-man, one-vote" principle of the federal and state constitutions. In ordering the change, the State Supreme Court indicated it would act after Nov. 1 if the Legislature did not.

The act places maximums on the number of supervisors a county can have.

The most for counties with less than 25,000 population will be 21 supervisors. Counties with 25,000-50,000 population will have 31. Counties in the 50,000-100,000 population category will have 39 and counties with more than 100,000 residents will have 47.

Under the law, town chairmen will no longer automatically be members of a county board.

Final passage of the legislation was preceded by public hearings in Madison, Appleton, Eau Claire and Waukesha.

The Supreme Court's action leading to passage of the bill came Jan. 5, 1965. The court's decision replied to a test case brought by Managing Editor Harry L. Sonneborn and City Editor Robert Willis of the Milwaukee Sentinel against Waukesha County.

U Thant Summons U.N. Disarmament Commission Meeting

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant has summoned the United Nations' 114 members to meet April 21 as members of the U.N. Disarmament Commission.

The meeting was requested by the Soviet Union March 31. The Soviets asked that it be held before the 18-nation disarmament committee resumes talks in Geneva.

Development of the athletic field is expected to cost around $150,000, LeVeé said. The area, which will be developed on a separate contract, will include a football field with permanent bleachers for 2,500 on one side and 1,000 on the other, a track with a 10-lane straightaway and eight-lane curves, baseball diamonds and tennis courts.

The school system will provide perimeter fencing, bleachers, backstops, goal posts, scoreboards and other equipment. The architect and contractor will handle sodding, grading, excavating and putting in the sports fields.

Parking areas, concrete walks, drainage, electrical hookups, water connections and rough grading will be part of the general school contract.

Wants to Explore,
Assess Borrowing
For Construction

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Gov. Warren Knowles has not yet decided what he wants to do about the Appleton Education Association's accelerated state highway construction program.

His chosen Republican chairmen of the state highway department and Republican friends in the Legislature have offered plans for the establishment of a quasi-public corporation that would borrow money to speed up construction on mainline roads.

But the governor told a news conference that he wants to explore further the whole question of borrowing for advance construction and to "assess the need" more carefully.

He said also he wants to have more evidence of public backing for such a device before he commits his administration to proceeding with a debt program to achieve a more rapid pace of highway building in the face of the referendum of a year ago which indicated a strong electoral resistance to the idea of additional current highway taxes for such purposes.

Lawrence Says Federal Forms Discriminate Against Some

Require Listing of Only Negroes, Not Other Minorities

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Lawrence

WASHINGTON — "Discrimination" is being widely condemned nowadays. Yet the federal government itself engages in a certain type of discrimination when it insists on knowing the number of Negroes employed by contractors doing government work but does not ask for information which might

"national origin" of employees — that is, whether they are French, Mexicans, Africans, or Asians.

The purpose of the governmental forms is to prevent discrimination, but the federal government seems to be concerned only with discrimination involving Negroes. A contractor in a western state — whose personnel changes from time to time because of the nature of his work — writes to this correspondent as follows:

"You will notice that, in addition to the number of employees, the form requires that the number of Negroes employed must also be reported. This appears to us to be a most flagrantly discriminatory type of inquiry for our government to make at a time when discriminators are to be punished. Aren't American Indians, Chinese and all other races now being discriminated against by our government because these people are not included in the reporting requirement? It is difficult to believe that thinking Negroes would want to be singled out in this way as the only people named on a government questionnaire.

None to Report

"We are a small organization and we have employed Negro men in past years who have done excellent work and were a credit to our firm. But when several of these payroll forms were submitted last summer we did not happen to have any Negro employees to report. By our answer to this inquiry in the negative, we naturally are concerned about its effect on government personnel and how it will in turn affect our relationship with the government in the future."

The government has not drawn up its report forms to ascertain whether competent employees applied for the jobs and whether a sincere effort was made to hire persons of different races or nationalities. The form simply asks the total number and how many are Negroes. If there is a suspicion that the percentage of Negroes is too small, the government, of course, can make this a basis for refusing to renew a contract or to do business with the firm in the future.

Naturally, when there are complaints about discrimination on grounds other than race, the government looks into the matter. But the chief concern of many contractors today is whether, when seeking to do work on any project in which government funds are used, they will be granted or denied contracts on the basis of how many Negro employees are actually on their payrolls.

Virginia Laws

Although the government of the United States now requires lists to be prepared on the basis of white or Negro employees, only last autumn the Supreme Court of the United States struck down as unconstitutional certain laws of the State of Virginia requiring a listing of race on voting, poll-tax and real-estate assessment lists. In some areas, race is not shown on the records of those attending public schools or employed in local government offices, as it is felt that any listing which includes race would in itself be a discriminatory practice.

So it is surprising to see the federal government requiring contractors to classify their employees by race when they seek government contracts. Incidentally, if a contractor decides that, in order to make sure he will get a government contract, he must have more employees of a certain race or group and limits his hiring to that group, or dismisses some of his present employees to make room for them, there is no way to fix legal responsibility on those officials in the federal government who have indirectly caused such a discrimination to take place.

Highly Important Prof. Boyle Conducts Class in Double-Talk

NEW YORK (AP) — It has been sometime since we've had a class drill in double-talk. So let's have one now.

Double-talk enables you to say what you should say in a situation, although you don't really mean it at all.

If you are to succeed in later life it is highly important that you become so proficient in it that double-talking becomes second nature to you.

Parents use it when talking with children, and vice versa, and kids use it when talking to other kids. It's good at any age.

"My daddy can lick your daddy. I've got to bluff this bully some way."

"Gee, I had my theme right in this book. It must have dropped out in the bus on the way to school." I got so sleepy watching television last night I forgot to write it.

"Finish your spinach. It'll make you grow up big and strong." Don't eat it if you don't want to. I hate the stuff myself.

"I'd be glad to help you with your homework, but your teacher said she wanted you to do it by yourself." That new arithmetic is crazy. I don't understand it at all.

"This is the very last time I'm going to tell you to get ready for bed." After that, your father can start telling you.

Not Hungry

"I don't want any dinner, Mama. I just don't feel hungry." Besides, I've got three candy bars hidden in my room.

"But Mom, every other girl in my class is already wearing high heels." If she lets me buy a pair, I'll be the first in our class to have them.

"Cross my heart, I'll never do it again." I sure didn't think she'd catch me this time.

"I didn't know it was that time. I guess the teacher musta kept us late." If she ever finds out where Jimmy and I went, I'm really gonna get it.

"Quit whining. When I was your age I had to walk three miles to school." Well, three blocks anyway.

Feel Dizzy

"I just feel dizzy, and my stomach hurts. Can't I stay home today?" I'm unprepared in history, English and geography.

"Honest, Elizabeth, you're my very best friend in the whole world. Whatever made you think I was best friends with Mary Anne? She's so stuck up." I wish Mary Anne didn't like Susie better than me.

"You and Daddy say you love me, but you don't really." If I say this and start crying, maybe she won't spank me after all.

"The class in double-talk is now dismissed. I must compliment you, children. You've behaved very well today." Heavens, how can I put up with these noisy brats until vacation time comes?

Jingo Likens TV Selling Season to Chess Game

Schedules Promise to be More of Same; In New Form, Even 'Western' Soap Opera

BY JINGO

The selling season is on in the TV industry and the moguls are playing chess with their ideas of what you might like. The fight resurgent chess players at ABC and NBC, who had shown such acumen the season before.

Surprising, under these circumstances, CBS has a schedule very much like the one it hit the doldrums with. ABC, which hoisted itself by its bootstraps to unrealistic heights this year, also is doing little shifting now ahead of the other two has presented something like a wholesale slaughter of what appeared to be perennial favorites.

As of the bargaining season, ABC has nine new shows, CBS, nine new shows and a show purchased from each of the other nets and NBC is penciling in 15 new attractions.

When the neck-and-neck race developed, NBC came out with the viewpoint that it was really winning because you could count the minutes involved in the leading shows. With NBC heavy with long (60 to 90 minute) attractions, it obviously was ahead in the minute race. The figuring didn't get many people excited and NBC has rearranged its own thinking by filling the coming year with short (30 minute) shows.

Talking Auto

From where Jingo sits, the penciled in schedule looks like very much of the same thing. There will be a "mechanical" Mr. Edd in the form of an automobile that speaks, some new 007 caliber activity, a new science-fiction and a great deal more soap — even of the Western variety.

A year ago, Jingo glanced over the titles and synopsis and forecast that the season would be the shortest on record — and, by George, it was! This glance has Jingo disheartened. There isn't really anything to get too ill about nor is there anything to get even a little enthusiastic about, so from this little glance, Jingo must say we're going to be stuck with the preliminary plans and the networks are going to continue neck-and-neck.

Few Educational Programs

One of the disheartening things about the schedule is its vapid atmosphere and the short changing of public affairs on anything like educational programs.

Of the 21 prime time hours involved — a total of 147 hours over the three nets — there are only two half hour shows set for news: ABC's ABC Scope and CBS' CBS Report.

NBC, which wins all of the news prizes, doesn't have a minute set in for the prime time.

The way the schedule looks now, the only educational value we'll be getting on the boob tube will come from the movies which are scheduled by all three nets and it always seems a bit silly to see the hacked-up TV version when you can get the real thing and a night out of the house too.

'Cloven Tongues, Like as Fire,' Sit Upon Each of the Apostles

The weeks following the Crucifixion and Resurrection of Christ were a trying time for His disciples. They confronted entirely unexpected circumstances. Nothing had turned out as they had anticipated. The foundations of their hopes had collapsed. Following is the second in a five-part series about that anxious period.

BY GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Toward evening they gathered in a large private house in the westerly Upper City of Jerusalem. They came singly and in little groups, slipping cautiously into the walled courtyard. They came listening, watching, afraid.

The way of Jesus had become a dim, vertiginous passage.

A great hulk of a man, Simon Peter, sat at the foot of an outside stone stairway, his weather-toughened gaze registering each new arrival. They were desperate men, every one, but they also were the stout-hearted.

Seven weeks had elapsed since the Master died.

Jesus Had Appeared

Events during that period had alternately shocked, thrilled and staggered his followers. At least eight times, the risen Jesus had been seen by individuals or groups, in a garden, by Cleopas and Simon on a road, by the Apostles in a bolted room, on a mountaintop, by a few, by many, once by 500 simultaneously.

At one point, Peter himself had gone back to resume his fishing trade in Galilee, only to be confronted on a misty morning shore by Jesus, and a solemn charge: "Feed My sheep." The Apostle had returned to Jerusalem to do it.

But a sense of helplessness lay heavy on them all. The days dragged on.

Now, out at the foregate of the house in Jerusalem, Matthew and Nathanael stood watch, welcoming the companions with a kiss of peace. Sighing, Peter got to his feet. To the west, above the wall, the last streaks of sun slid away.

A Long Wait

Peter shook his head dourly. They might wait a long while before they saw the Lord again. "It is not for you to know the times or the seasons," the resurrected Jesus had said. Yet they still looked for Him to return at once, banishing the Roman intruder and assuming earthly government.

Up to the end, just before He left them for the last time there on the mountain, they still insisted, "Lord, will You at this time restore the kingdom to Israel?" Rejecting that purpose, He nonetheless said:

"But you shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you, and you shall be My witnesses . . . to the end of the earth."

It had been 49 days since. He rose. Nine days had passed since His last farewell on the mountain. The Apostles since had dwelt in the cenacle, the large upper room of the widow's house, closeted from roving vigilantes.

Kinsmen of Jesus, His mother and other close consorts also had taken refuge there. They and the Apostles had prayed diligently, in one accord, but without apparent effect.

Only 120 Remain
Roving about the lamplit courtyard, Peter counted 120. Only these remained of the multitudes that once had rallied to Jesus. And questions lined their brows. Fear pinched their voices.

"Feed My Sheep."

What news has thou? Neighbors set forward our calamity.

To be sure there was cause for uneasiness. The land seethed with clandestine societies, some fanatically violent. Caesar's militia and the collaborationist Sadducean hierarchy combined to crush these dissident movements.

Peter sent the widow's young son Mark to fetch Matthew and Nathanael from the gate for the business at hand. In the distance, cries of the Roman guard posted for the night's first watch threaded along the city wall.

Brethren, Peter began. They shuffled closer, their dark upturned faces converging below him. They might well be disappointed at his purpose. It could do little to dispel their shrinking inertia.

Brethren, the Scripture had to be fulfilled concerning Judas who was guide to those who arrested Jesus. It is written in the book of Psalms, Let his habitation become desolate, and his office let another take.

Judas' Replacement
The betrayer, Judas Iscariot, guilt-stricken by his deed had hanged himself, and after his shunned body burst, it was buried in potters' field. Refilling the ranks of the 12 would be a mere organizational matter.

But it was something, better than standing still. Peter gazed about the shadowy crowd, waiting for a name to be put forward. It had to be someone from among the 70 Jesus had chosen personally to share his ministry.

"Joseph!" a voice rang out.

time, another candidate was called out. "Matthias, the gift of Jehovah."

A second potsherd, inscribed with the new name, was dropped into the beaker. Peter took the vessel. The whole company joined in prayer. "Lord, who knowest the hearts of all men, show which one of these two thou has chosen."

Matthias, the 12th
Peter dropped to one knee, joggling the beaker up and down until one ostrakon jounced out of it. He picked it up, squinting at the letters. "Matthias, the gift of Jehovah," he announced.

Once more, the Apostles were 12. Somehow, by that step, Peter felt that the hard, dreary waiting had dissolved into a new stage. They had made a decision. They had done something, however slight. They had begun to act.

The 12 climbed to their lodgings in the upper room and spread their rugs about the floor. But none slept. A restless animation pervaded them, and they gave themselves over to prayer.

"Oh Lord . . . cause Thy face to shine upon us . . . that Thy way may be known upon earth . . . They prayed until dawn began silvering the walls of the upper room."

It was sunrise of Shabbat, celebrating the moment when God blazed His law into the rock of Mt. Sinai, a time of thanksgiving, of bringings of the first fruits, the 50th day after Passover — Pentecost!

"And when the day of Pentecost was fully come . . . Scripture recounts, 'suddenly there came a sound from Heaven as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they were sitting. And there appeared unto them cloven tongues like as of fire, and it sat upon each of them. And they were all filled with the Holy Ghost.'"

The time of waiting was over. The moratorium of the spirit had ended. They were ready now. They could go to work.

Snarls Feared In Steel Labor Negotiations

See Strong Signs of Another Election For Union Chieftain

WASHINGTON (AP) — High administration officials reportedly fear that vital steel industry labor negotiations, rapidly approaching a May 1 contract deadline, will be snarled by demands for a new election for the union's presidency.

Informed sources report strong signs that President David J. McDonald of the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers of America will seek a new election if he loses his re-election bid to the union's secretary-treasurer, I. W. Abel.

Unofficial tallies have put Abel ahead. The official vote is still being tabulated.

The sources say McDonald's supporters have been dropping strong hints to government officials that he will seek a new election under federal labor law if the official vote count goes against him.

The union is scheduled to report the official vote count May 1, the day major steel industry contracts expire.

Under the union's constitution, the winner will take office June 1.

Labor Department representatives at the invitation of both sides, have been observing the vote count but have emphasized no action is presently in the works that could lead to a recount.

Although government spokesmen won't comment publicly, high officials watching the steelworkers' election appear to agree with reports indicating Abel will emerge the winner.

Quang Tri area was on the headquarters of a U.S. Military Assistance Command. Three of 25 rounds fired fell inside the compound, wounding the three killed 30 Vietnamese civilians and two soldiers and wounded 18 persons, including three American soldiers.

A number of American regimental advisers are stationed at the post.

The civilians were killed when Communist guerrillas fired about 100 mortar shells into a housing area of a command post of the 11th Vietnamese Artillery Battalion. Two soldiers were injured. The post is at Le Vang, near Quang Tri.

Third Attack
In the third attack, the guerrillas fired 20 mortar rounds at the district headquarters of Hail Lang, killing two Vietnamese soldiers and wounding six civil policemen and nine civilians.

Quang Tri is about 25 miles from the coastal city of Hue, recently reinforced with U.S. Marines to protect American installations there.

At the Da Nang air base, a U.S. Marine mortar crew accidentally killed a Vietnamese peasant Monday, arousing fear that the Communists would use the mishap to stir up demonstrations against the 7,500 Americans in the area.

The peasant was killed when an 81mm mortar fell outside the target area at the Hoa Cam range, three miles southwest of the base, military sources said. An investigation was ordered. Vietnamese authorities went to the people to explain the accident.

The South Vietnamese government announced that elections of town and provincial councils will be held May 30. They had originally been scheduled for March. The councils will have only advisory powers. Administration will remain in the hands of appointed provincial chiefs.

Reporters' Prayers

High Court Decision Tradition Set Aside

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Hal-lalujah, they've heard our prayers."

By "they," the veteran reporter meant the nine justices of the Supreme Court. The prayers offered up by many newsmen who have covered the Supreme Court since government grew big; that decisions be announced through the week when they are ready and not dumped, all at once, like a sack of potatoes on press and public Monday mornings.

So, perhaps on Tuesday April 27, Wednesday April 28 or certainly before the last week in April is out, the highest court in the land will put the tradition of "Decision Monday" to rest.

In Recess
The court is in recess for Easter, but already those praying newspapermen are breathing easier. Perhaps now they, like other Americans, can think of Mondays merely as blue —

What made the day dismal for them was that as far back as anyone can remember the court has announced its decisions on a Monday—exclusively.

Bloody Clashes Erupt in Korea As Talk Protest

5,000 Students Object to Japanese Boundary Parley

SEOUL, South Korea, (AP) — Bloody clashes erupted today as 5,000 students protesting government talks with Japan battled riot police.

Police fired tear gas to check the advance of the largest group, about 2,000 students of Korea University. Police hit the students on the head with wooden clubs. Students retaliated by throwing rocks.

Scores of students were injured. A police announcement said 49 policemen were injured, 14 of them seriously.

The announcement said 409 students and 15 other persons were taken into custody for questioning. The metropolitan police director, Koo Ja-choon, said he would ask for arrest warrants for about 20 leaders.

Most of the others will be referred to summary court trials, Koo said.

Worst Day

It was the worst day in the capital since last summer when a series of students demonstrations swept the city and resulted in proclamation of martial law.

The entire metropolitan police force went on full "emergency alert."

Two small groups of about 150 students held brief sitdown strikes in front of the National Assembly building. Police hauled them to police stations.

The demonstrators today concentrated their protest on virtual abolition of the Korean fishing boundary which had barred Japanese fishermen from waters around the Korean peninsula.

Attorney General's Charge

Report 'Private Armies' Training In California Threat to Security

SACRAMENTO, Calif., (AP) — The California Legislature has before it today a report of the state's top law enforcement officer that several small violence-prone groups — "the misfits and maladjusted of society" — threaten the peace and security of California, continually plot armed activity and should be outlawed.

Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch told the legislature Monday that five groups now active in the nation's most populous state "have lost faith in our system of government. They continually plot armed activity while skirting outright sedition."

His charge came in a 79-page report providing support for a bill aimed at outlawing private, para-military bodies which reportedly train in secret. The measure is scheduled for initial hearing before the state Senate Judiciary Committee tonight.

State Bureau
Activities of the groups were probed by agents of the State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation.

The Democratic attorney general said: "The report clearly shows the threat to the peace and security of our state which is posed by the existence of these groups."

The report indicated the five groups share these characteristics: frustrated, maladjusted, embittered, violently at odds with contemporary American society

Now Appointive

Assembly Okays Bill To Make State Auditor Civil Service Position

MADISON (AP) — A long-standing grudge between State Auditor J. Jay Keliher and Democrats in the Legislature has been partially vindicated.

Voting along nearly strict party lines Monday, the Assembly approved 50-45 a bill that would make the office of state auditor a Civil Service position instead of an appointive one by the governor.

Only two Republicans—Earl McEssy of Fond du Lac and Louis Romell of Adams—bolted from the ranks and crossed party lines in the vote. Democrats voted solidly for the bill.

Keliher has been the target of Democratic criticism since the Republican-controlled Senate refused to confirm successors named by Democratic governors.

Delay Decision

In other action, the Assembly delayed a decision on the implied consent bill—a major part of Gov. Warren P. Knowles' Highway safety program. Upon the request of Assemblyman John Shabaz, R-New Berlin, the bill was sent back to the judiciary committee.

Shabaz said he thought a substitute amendment offered by Assemblyman James Azim, R-Muskegon ought to have a public hearing.

Azim, one of the co-authors of the original bill, said the amendment met "every specific objection" that had been raised to the bill.

Gives Consent

The bill states that a person upon the receipt of his driver's license gives his consent to take a test for intoxication if he is arrested for a driving violation. Azim's change would give a person the option of taking either breath or urine test, and would eliminate any use of a blood test. The amendment also provides for the automatic return after six months of a license that has been revoked for refusal to take a test.

The Assembly also killed by a 57-38 vote a bill that would require the registration of voters in all cities, villages or towns with 2,500 or more population. Presently, all municipalities with more than 5,000 population must register voters, while those with less have the option of doing so.

Mathews, Torre, Cloninger Power Braves to 4-2 Victory

Blasingame to Pitch Against Reds Tonight

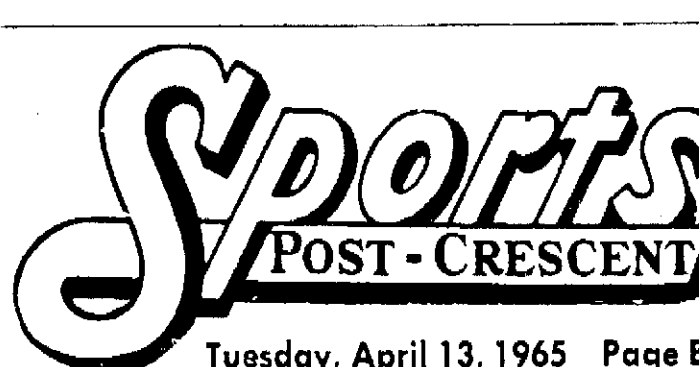

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves are off and running in their bid for one more National League pennant before moving to Atlanta in 1956. Joe Torre belted two homers and Eddie Mathews contributed a two-run blast in support of Tony Cloninger's two-hit pitching Monday as the Braves launched the 1955 campaign with a 4-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds before a crowd of 28,467.

Cloninger, a hard-throwing right-hander who won 19 games last year, was in mid-season form as he handcuffed the Reds. He surrendered an unearned run in the third and a wind-blown homer to Deron Johnson in the sixth.

The Braves nailed down the decision in the sixth when Felipe Alou, recovered from knee surgery in 1946, beat out a hit to deep short. Mathews then lined a homer into the right field bleachers and Torre followed with a rifle shot into the left field screen. Torre then connected with another high drive to center in the eighth.

Former U-W Star

That was all Cloninger needed as he outduelled southpaw Jim O'Toole, former University of Wisconsin star who lost for the first time in four opening day assignments for Cincinnati. Cloninger was touched for a leadoff single by Pete Rose in addition to Johnson's homer. He struck out two and walked five. O'Toole allowed seven hits, struck out six and walked four. Cloninger appeared deliberately "wild" at times as he

Twins Edge Yankees, 5-4 in Error-Filled, 11-Inning First Game

Bosox Win, 7-2, Over Washington; Tigers Down A's

BY MURRAY CHASS Associated Press Sports Writer

At least Charlie Finley advertised his circus. New York and Minnesota kept theirs a secret until just before game time.

A multitude of errors and wild pitches following a flood-forced helicopter ride heavily punctuated Minnesota's 11-inning 5-4 opening game victory over the Yankees Monday.

A multitute of errors, flavoring Detroit's 6-2 triumph over Kansas City at night, included Charlie Finley's 11-inning 5-4 opening game victory over the Yankees Monday.

then played batgirl for the first two innings.

The game finally started but wasn't more than a half-inning old when plate umpire Bill McKinley stepped on a button which raises the automatic ball dispenser behind home plate.

Out flew four pigeons and two pheasants.

Several innings later, in the seventh and eighth to be exact, two-run homers by Jerry Lumpe and rookie John Sullivan flew out of the park, and Charlie O's debut was a failure.

The Twins-Yankees game was only slightly less comical. Even before the contest started, Minnesota officials decided today's game would be postponed because of travel difficulties resulting from flood conditions.

Those conditions forced the airlifting of four Twins, including starting pitcher Jim Kaat, from the suburb of Burnsville, where they live, to the park. A helicopter picked them up in a

Koufax Ready To Take Turn In Rotation

NEW YORK (AP) — Sandy Koufax, the Los Angeles Dodgers' star left-hander who has been hampered by an ailing arm, is expected to make his first pitching start of the season Sunday at Philadelphia.

Koufax said Monday his left elbow had given him no trouble after his three-inning exhibition stint at Washington Sunday. He allowed the Senators only one hit and struck out five in his only pitching since an arthritic condition sidelined him March 30.

Koufax said he felt ready to take his regular turn, although he had no idea how long or how often he could pitch. Manager Walter Alton immediately spotted him for Sunday's game against the Phillies.

The Dodgers are here for the season opener against the New York Mets.

Ticket Sales Reach 18,000 for Braves' Home Opening Game

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Ticket sales for the Milwaukee Braves' home opener against the Chicago Cubs Thursday reached the 18,000 mark Monday — some 1,000 more than the previous day.

A spokesman for Teams, Inc., a civic group striving to obtain another major league franchise for Milwaukee after the Braves' move to Atlanta in 1966, said that "with a break in the weather, attendance will exceed 26,000."

Teams has bought out the game by guaranteeing the Braves $35,000. Attendance of about 26,000 is considered the break even point.

Ridzik Retrieves LBJ's First Pitch

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson cut loose a soft line pitch Monday to open the American League baseball season.

Pitcher Steve Ridzik of the Washington Senators outwrestled a mob of players for the ball.

A second toss for the benefit of photographers was caught by another Senator, catcher Mike Brumley.

Johnson, a strapping right-hander who once played first base, fooled most of the players with his prowess. His first toss sailed almost to the first baseline. Most of them were bunched closer to the presidential box.

State Semi-Pro Baseball Meet Set for Menasha

13 District Champs Will Take Part

MENASHA — The 1965 Wisconsin semi-professional baseball tournament will be held July 25 to Aug. 1 at the Menasha ball park under the sponsorship of the Menasha Athletic Club.

Jerry Heiss, representing the Macs, asked for, and received, unanimous support from the Menasha common council in the club's undertaking at the committee of the whole meeting Monday night. He said he was not asking the city for money but only to coordinate efforts in making the tournament a success.

The state tournament has annually been held in Milwaukee County Stadium but because of the poor health of Richard Falk, the tournament "angel" in Milwaukee, the tournament committee agreed to permit the tournament to be moved. Heiss said.

Heiss termed Menasha "the heart of baseball" and noted that one of the state district tournaments has been held in Menasha for many years. The state semi-pro test is comprised of 13 districts. The winner of the state meet advances to the national semi-pro tournament at Wichita, Kan.

To National Meet

The Mac leader said they would need about $500 for first place prize money to finance the winner going to the national tournament but felt that could be met from gate receipts and program advertising.

Heiss added the Macs would like to meet with the council and park board again in the future to discuss parking facilities for the 4-day tournament and the preparing of the park.

Ald. Walter Rempel suggested contacting the Wisconsin Telephone Co. about using their warehouse parking lot which is near the ball park and also using a public works department dumping area near the park for parking for the four days.

Mavor John Klein said he would be happy to assist in lining up backing for the tournament but emphasized the city could not make a financial contribution.

Recreation director Robert Vaneehoven said there was only one conflict for use of the parking during that period, a Banta Industrial League, and he was sure that other arrangements could be made. Park Director Harry Kargus also said he welcomed the tournament and was sure the park would be ready.

More Surgery For Packers' Jerry Kramer

GREEN BAY (AP) — Jerry Kramer, the Green Bay Packers' all-National Football League guard until he was felled by an abdominal ailment last fall, will undergo a third operation the week of April 25.

Kramer will undergo surgery at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., where his second operation was performed. He first was operated on for removal of an abdominal abscess in Green Bay.

The Packers said Monday that Kramer has regained his playing weight of 250 pounds. His activities during the winter included skiing and hunting.

Phils' Short Blanks Houston in Opener

Veale Authors 3-Hitter as Bucs Squeak by Giants in 10 Innings

BY HAL BOCK

It was opening day but Pittsburgh's Bob Veale, Milwaukee's Tony Cloninger and Casey Stengel's New York Mets were in mid-season form.

Veale, the tall Pirate left-hander who led baseball's major leagues with 250 strikeouts last season, fired a nifty three-hitter, blanking the San Francisco Giants and Juan Marichal 1-0 in 10 innings. Cloninger was sharp too, permitting just two hits as Milwaukee beat Cincinnati 4-2.

And Stengel's Mets are in their accustomed spot at the bottom of the standings after a four-11, 6-1 defeat by Los Angeles' Don Drysdale who poked a two-run homer for good measure.

In other National League openers, the world champion St. Louis Cardinals battled 11 innings and had to settle for a 10-10 tie with the Chicago Cubs in a game called because of darkness and Philadelphia and Houston played the first regular season game inside the Houston Astrodome with Chris Short firing a four-hitter and the Phillies blanking the Astros 2-0.

Escaped Two Jams

Veale escaped two early jams before settling down to his duel with San Francisco's Marichal. Bob Bailey's leadoff homer in the 10th broke it up. Bailey's shot was only the fifth Pirate hit.

In the fourth, Willie Mays singled and moved to second on a wild pitch. After Veale, who struck out 10 and walked just one, fanned Jim Ray Hart and got Willie McCovey on a pop. Jesus Alou got what was to be the Giants' last hit. But Mays had to hold as the third on the throw to the plate and then Veale struck out Tom Haller, ending the inning.

Veale finished up by retiring the last 19 men in order until Bailey's shot won it.

The Mets were two runs behind before they came to bat against Drysdale. Drysdale hit a two-run homer in the fourth and Willie Davis poked a bases-empty shot among his three hits. It was the 14th time Drysdale had beaten the Mets in their four years in the league and the fourth straight opening day loss for New York.

Jumped on Jackson

The Cardinals jumped on Larry Jackson for five runs in the first inning but World Series hero Bob Gibson faltered and couldn't hold the lead. St. Louis was still ahead 9-6 with two out in the ninth when reliever Tracy Stallard walked Ron Santo and gave a single to George Altman. Barney Scholtz came on and Ernie Banks tied it with a long home run.

Both teams scored in the 11th. St. Louis on three singles and Chicago on a single, a passed ball and Santo's double, before the umpires called it. The game went into the books as a tie and

St. John Track Team Has 7 Lettermen Back

Chuters Scheduled To Open Saturday In Fond du Lac

LITTLE CHUTE—Despite the fact that the weatherman has been causing trouble with the practice schedule, Coach Bill Fitzpatrick is optimistically looking forward to the 1965 track season at St. John High School.

Fitzpatrick has seven lettermen out for the squad and some promising newcomers who are expected to make the Dutchmen more of a threat after a disappointing 1964 campaign.

The Chuters are scheduled to open the season Saturday in a dual meet at St. Mary Springs, Fond du Lac. St. John was originally scheduled for a meet with Menasha St. Mary last week, but it was postponed and will be rescheduled for later in the season.

Four Seniors

Lettermen include four seniors, two juniors and a sophomore. Seniors are Nick Helf, high and low hurdles and the 440; Tom Hulting, high and low hurdles and high jump; Bob Joosten, 440 and Dennis Huss, 440. Junior monogram winners returning are Gary Romanesko, dashes and low hurdles and Joe Schaefer, shot put. The sophomore letterman is Tom Felzer in the pole vault and mile.

Two other lettermen from last year are on the potential list. Larry Hietpas is still recovering from a knee injury and Jay Van Thiel, a standout in the shot put and discus, has not reported to the team this spring. Also listed as a possibility for the squad is Dave Van Vreede, who was unbeaten in the half-mile as a sophomore but decided not to compete in 1964.

Adding depth to the squad is Bruce Hammen, who will compete in the dashes, broad jump and relay. Hammen was on the team as freshman and sophomore, but did not compete last season.

Other candidates include Mike Weyenberg, 440 and discus; Dan Gloudemans, 880 or mile and pole vault; Tom Olson, 440; Tim Wegand, shot put and discus; Gary Look, mile; Dave Hammen, pole vault and low hurdles

Fitzpatrick said he expects overall improvement on the squad, but adds that the Chutlers are handicapped by not having a home track to work on. All meets will be away with St. John listed as the home squad for a dual with Freedom tentatively listed for the Kaukauna track.

Six New Teams Among Top 10 In WIBC Meet

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Division 2 ranks had the biggest shakeup Monday night in the Women's International Bowling Congress Tournament.

When bowling resumed today there were six new teams listed among the top 10 of the division. Top score was a 2345 posted by Curran's Drugs of Portland, which was good for fourth place.

M & N Bowl of Salem, Ore., took over sixth place with 2337. Carr Chevrolet of Beaverton, Ore., had 2335 for seventh place. Corwin-Churchill of Bismark, N.D., had 2322 to share eighth place with Imperial Lanes of Spokane, Wash.

However, highlight of the night's action was the appearance of totally blind Jennie Reeves of Oregon City. Her bowling caught the fancy of the crowd as she shot games of 137, 133, 164 for 454.

No changes took place in the Division 1 team event standings. However, earlier in the day, a fourth-place score of 1078 was posted in the doubles by a Victoria, B.C., pair. Ann Goodman and Lorrene Slater.

The Giants almost was a success — thanks to Juan Marichal.

With the score 0-0 in the 10th inning in Monday's opening game and Veale and Marichal showing mid-season pitching form, Bailey slammed a pitch over the left field wall.

"Nice going Bobby, I told you we'd get you some runs," Bailey told Veale as they posed for pictures after the game.

Veale, a 6-foot-6 southpaw, only needed the third baseman's run but for a time it didn't look like he would get any.

The right-handed Marichal, 21-8 last year, allowed only four hits — one an infield single by Bailey — in the first nine innings, struck out nine and walked one.

But Veale was equal to the challenge, giving up three hits, fanning 10, walking one and retiring the last 19 batters.

Veale got many of his defeats in 1964 when he was 18-12 by giving up runs in the early innings.

Monday he was in trouble twice — the first and second innings. The Giants got two men on in each but Veale kept them there.

"My trouble last year was in the first, second and third innings," he said. "I think that was primarily due to insufficient warmup."

Spring Conditioning He attributed his top showing against the Giants to spring conditioning.

"I did extra running, hard running," he said. "That's the key to success, pushing yourself a little harder than a year before."

"For awhile," he continued, "I thought my legs would be in better shape than my arm."

It looks like his arm has caught up.

While being interviewed, Bailey spotted Gene Freese, also a third baseman, and hollered:

"Hey Augie, that'll keep me in there for at least a week."

It was meant as a joke and certainly has to be taken as one for the 22-year-old, who signed with the Pirates for a reported $175,000, has a lot going for him — experience (this is his third major league season), youth, power and confidence.

"I was a little wild at times," Cloninger said with a smile.

"Don't forget, I did walk five."

The Milwaukee ace singled out his change-up pitch for his success in the 1965 inaugural.

"One of my most effective pitches was the change-up on a fast ball," he said. "It's a pitch I couldn't do anything with last September."

A walk, a throwing error on a possible double play ball by first baseman Tommie Aaron and a sacrifice fly produced the Reds' first run. But the Braves didn't let Cincinnati enjoy the lead very long.

The two teams wind up the brief series tonight with southpaw Wade Blasingame of the Braves opposing right-hander Sammy Ellis of the Reds. Blasingame had a 9-5 record with the Braves last year, while Ellis, used mainly in a relief role, was 10-3.

Drop in Water Level Kills Northern Pike

BY JIM HARP

Post-Crescent Outdoor Editor

BOOM BAY — A large number of northern pike which made a determined, early spawning run up a narrow drainage ditch from Lake Poygan will never get to complete the annual spring process. They are floating dead in a shallow marsh area just off County Trunk MM.

As early as four weeks ago, when the first warm rain started a thawing in the Poygan area, the pike started moving back to the ditch and survived. Sportsmen in the area took it upon themselves to get pumps away from the ditch and began the process of trying to refill the marsh.

Some pike managed to get back to the ditch and survived. Sportsmen in the area took it upon themselves to get pumps away from the ditch and began the process of trying to refill the marsh.

When this writer visited the area Monday afternoon a thin layer of water was covering the marsh grass and it was evident that there were a good number of northern pike in the field. Every once in a while a fin New York University and Boston College.

Opening Day Games Attract Less Than '64

Approximately 3,000 fewer persons per game turned out for baseball's opening day games Monday than did for the first games last year.

A total of 234,109 saw the eight games played. A ninth contest, Cleveland at Los Angeles was rained out. Baltimore and the Chicago White Sox were scheduled.

The average paid attendance for the games was 29,264. An average crowd of 32,344 saw the openers in 1964.

Largest paid crowd of the day — 43,554 — was at Washington where Boston helped the Senators get the season started. A total attendance of 48,546 was reported at Houston for the first official league game under the Astrodome, but the paid crowd numbered 42,652.

In the past, Washington in the American League and Cincinnati in the National have opened the season on Monday. However, the other clubs decided to get in on the early start this season.

Jack Donohue Named Coach At Holy Cross

Athletic Director Claims Lew Alcindor Not Involved in Deal

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Jack Donohue, coach of school boy sensation Lew Alcindor at New York's Power Memorial High School, has signed as head basketball coach at Holy Cross.

Holy Cross Athletic Director Gene Flynn announced the signing Monday and said: "This was not a package deal. Lew Alcindor's name did not come up in any of our talks with Donohue."

The 7-foot-1 Alcindor led Power to 71 straight victories on the way to three consecutive Catholic high school city championships in New York. He is considered the most sought-after school boy since Wilt Chamberlain, but so far has visited only one college — UCLA in California.

He is scheduled to visit four others: Michigan, St. John's, New York University and Boston College.

Sportsmen are fortunate in that Lake Poygan is probably one of the best northern pike fishing lakes in the state of Wisconsin and that it has been rained out. Baltimore and the Chicago White Sox were scheduled.

school yard and dropped them in a parking lot.

3 Wild Pitches
Both teams might have been better off if the flood had inundated Metropolitan Stadium. The Yankees made five errors and the Twins committed three while New York pitchers contributed three wild pitches.

The most dramatic miscues came in the ninth and 11th innings. With two out in the Yankee ninth and the Twins leading 4-3, rookie third baseman Cesar Tovar dropped Joe Pepitone's easy pop up, and pinch runner Arturo Lopez raced home from second with the tying run.

Tovar and Lopez exchanged places in the Twins' 11th. Lopez, also a rookie, opened the inning by misjudging, then dropping Bob Allison's fly ball for a three-base error. Two intentional walks and two outs later, Tovar rapped a single to center for the game-winning run.

6 Home Runs
Boston smashed six homers against the Senators. Lennie Green leading the attack with two. Tony Conigliaro, Felix Mantilla and Lee Thomas each contributed one while Don Lock and Ken McMullen connected for the Senators.

Debut Trying Affair for Schoendienst

Cards Get 5-Run Lead, but Game Becomes Nightmare

CHICAGO (AP)—Albert Fred Schoendienst's flowing red hair isn't going to turn gray if his St. Louis Cardinals play many more games as their opener with the Chicago Cubs Monday. But they aren't good for the nervous system.

Schoendienst made his debut as manager of the world champions and it couldn't have been under more trying conditions.

There isn't a manager in the world who wouldn't like his club to stake him to a five-run lead before Bob Gibson, the world series hero, could throw one pitch.

That's what happened to the congenial Schoendienst. After that, it was all a nightmare.

Cut the Lead
The Cubs scored twice in the second and third innings to cut the lead to one run. The Cardinals made it 7-4 with a pair in the fourth but this wasn't Gibson's day. He had to be yanked in the bottom of the fourth when the erratic Cubs scored two in the bottom of the 11th before the umpires called it because of darkness.

Ron Taylor was ineffective in darkness.

Phils' Short Cites Control For Opening-Day Shutout

Manager Gene Mauch of the Philadelphia Phillies nominated him to pitch the season's opener against Houston Monday night and the 27-year-old southpaw responded nobly by blanking the Astros 2-0.

"It was the first time in my career, either in the majors or minors, that I ever pitched a season opener," said Short. "And it must be the first time I have ever won a game the first two weeks of any season in the big leagues."

Short was a 17-game winner for the Phillies last season but he waited 25 days before recording his first triumph. This year he waited exactly two hours and 24 minutes for a superb four-hitter in which only one Houston batter reached third base.

"I was getting all four of my pitches over the plate," Short said in explaining his effectiveness. "My fast ball, curve, slider and change were working excellently."

"I was surprised at the way my change-up behaved. I usually have a tough time getting it over the plate this early. Maybe that's why I've been such a slow starter before. I hope this is a good omen. My goal is to win 20 this year and with luck I think I can do it."

Like every player who has visited the $31.8 million Astro-dome, Short fell in love with the air-conditioned, steel-roofed stadium, but for different reasons.

Cheesemaker Di Bella's Estate Probate Called

Fond du Lac Court Expected to Review Holdings of Underworld Leaders' Friend

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

FOND DU LAC — The far flung estate of the late John V. DiBella, Italian cheese kingpin and friend of underworld leaders, was scheduled for probate in county court here today, but principals did not appear.

Judge Gerold Murphy then held the matter open pending a filing of the original copy of the will which had been made out in New York.

DiBella, former president of the Grande Cheese Co. who had interest in several other firms and properties in several states, was a personal friend of Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonanno, missing New York Mafia chieftain.

DiBella is believed to have amassed a small fortune. His firm was under criticism from the governor's office two years ago and several years ago DiBella had testified before federal crime investigating committees.

Miss Rose DiBella, Brooklyn and New York, a niece of the deceased who died at St. Agnes hospital here Sept. 1 from a heart ailment, was named executor of the will.

Originally, the will was filed for probate in a New York court and the Wisconsin Department of Taxation instituted court action to have the action transferred here. The state says DiBella was a legal resident of Fond du Lac at the time of his death.

Attorneys for Miss DiBella subsequently transferred the action to Judge Gerold Murphy's court, contending an error had been made.

In the meantime, more than $100,000 in blue chip stocks which DiBella had in a strong box at the National Exchange Bank here has been tied up by a court order obtained by a state tax department.

Any action today was Miss DiBella, either a New York attorney or Atty. Dominic Frinzi, Milwaukee, a former Democratic candidate for governor, filing the original copy of DiBella's will.

Proof of Heirship
It was learned that a week ago Miss DiBella appeared in court and gave testimony in proof of heirship.

Miss DiBella, executrix of her uncle's estate under terms of his will, is likely to be ordered by the court to file a bond, a procedure followed for non-state residents.

Once the bond is filed, the next step will be preparing an inventory of DiBella's estate. State and federal tax agents have been checking out DiBella's holdings for several months in Wisconsin, other states and Italy.

It is expected other states in which DiBella had holdings will start proceedings to collect their share of estate taxes.

In the 1940's three salesmen for Grande Cheese Co., originally incorporated by three Chicago men, were murdered in gangland style in Chicago.

DiBella left his estate to three brothers, two sisters, five nephews, six nieces, two grandnieces and some charitable institutions in this country and in Italy.

Failure, Timidity, Hope All Cancer War Factors

BY PAT McGRADY

In 1963, Dr. Sidney Farber and Dr. Alfred B. Handler of the Children's Cancer Research Foundation in Boston reported a strange phenomenon. When they injected the blood of cancer patients or cancerous animals into fertilized chicken eggs, the embryos died, or the chicks hatched with striking deformities. Normal blood did not produce these effects.

The scientists carefully re-

The late Dr. George N. Papanicolaou whose smear test for uterine cancer has saved thousands of lives, and could save millions.

frained from calling this a blood test for cancer—nothing, not even the claim of a new cancer cure, is as explosive within science as the suggestion of a new cancer test. Scores of scientists have felt the merciless lash of their peers for proposing a cancer detection procedure. The harshest critics disregarded the clearly stated limitations of the tests, and some of them grossly exaggerated the discoverer's claims. To be sure, most of the tests were utterly useless.

Scientists Sensitive

Scientists are sensitive about cancer blood tests because of all the rewards of research, few would be as rich in honors and in satisfaction as the finding of a simple and reliable test for cancer's presence. If early cancer could be detected easily, as well — had met with relatively few would reach the incurable stage.

At this writing, the Farber-Handler technique has been applied to several hundred patients. If the results hold up under further testing, and if others can reproduce them, a milestone in cancer control will have been achieved.

In December, 1961, Dr. Bertil Bjorklund of the Caroline Institute and Immunology Research Laboratory, Stockholm, injected himself and 120 healthy volunteers between 60 and 70 years old with a vaccine. He wanted to know if people could produce antibodies against cancers.

Antibodies Present

By late 1963 he found that some of the people did show anti-cancer antibodies. None of the subjects has had any untoward effects, and none had developed cancer—although statistically a few should have.

On the face of it, the vaccine prepared from extracts of killed human cancer cells was harmless.

For decades, scientists had talked about a cancer vaccine. Only a few felt that a vaccine for many or all kinds of cancer is conceivable. Here and now was a vaccine which actually was being tested for its possible prophylactic effect in cancer — human cancer—all kinds of human cancer.

His peers did not take kindly to Dr. Bjorklund's experiments. He was accused of being premature, of conducting potentially harmful experiments on people, of producing an ineffective preparation based upon the untenable postulate that human cancer cells contain a common antigen.

Merit Or Folly?

The proof of the merit or folly of this approach will be apparent eventually, if Dr. Bjorklund is permitted to carry on his work. The U. S. Public Health Service, his principal supporter, found technical reasons for withdrawing its aid when the controversy reached its peak. This was followed by efforts to oust him from his laboratory and sever his academic and scientific affiliations. Under attack from all sides, he now has isolated himself.

He has isolated himself, he now has isolated himself. He has demonstrated effective antibodies to it. The hostility was not surprising. Almost every notable advance in medical science—and cancer's presence. If early cancer could be detected easily, as well — had met with relatively few would reach the incurable stage.

To Your Good Health

Diverticulosis Common Disease for Millions

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner: Can diverticulosis be operated on? Is it fatal, and generally in the intestine, and in good health otherwise?

I am a 42-year-old colon

Dr. Molner

For years after he reported, his method was ignored. When a women's magazine discussed it, there was an immediate popular demand for the test. Physicians who had told patients they didn't know anything about the test or that the accounts were erroneous began using it and found it simple, cheap and effective.

Now top scientists say its regular use by women above 20 would literally reduce deaths from cervical cancer to zero.

By the time Dr. Pap died in 1962, his cell-study technique had been applied to cancer detection in the lung, stomach, heart, bowel, kidney, bladder, breast, prostate and brain.

Announcements of new blood and other tests for cancer are not as frequent as they used to be. Most of these who introduced tests in the past have taken their licking and retired from this phase of investigation. Those who now feel they may have discovered something of value in detecting cancer remain silent. Health agencies are not aggressively seeking a test.

No Universal Test

Though no universal chemical test for cancer has yet emerged, numerous sensitive new methods have been developed for the determination of enzyme, antigen, antibody, and other molecules, and it is thoroughly conceivable that some day some of them will detect cancer patterns.

They will do this, however, only if scientists have a test in mind and will perfect it over the opposition of the inevitable critics and cynics.

Loudest Voice In Washington Is Johnson's

Cabinet Members
Seem Like Thin
Echoes of President

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — The one voice that drowns out all else in Washington is President Johnson's. His Cabinet members sound like thin echoes of him and even Congress is muted.

This is an extremely unusual year in Washington — for the absence of feuds, fights and flaps — although it may be overlooked in the bang-bang way Johnson is getting things done and attracting attention.

After almost 17 months of exposure to Johnson in the White House the nation is getting used to its bouncy, highly energetic President whose performance Monday was more of less typical of his activity any day.

He flew back from Texas; opened the baseball season by throwing out not one ball but two; stopped off on his way back to the White House to lay a wreath on the Franklin D. Roosevelt Memorial which was dedicated Monday, and Monday night entertained one-third of the Senate (again) at a combination reception and idea-swap in the White House.

Reception Tonight
Tonight he is having a 5 o'clock reception for the congressional leaders who put through his aid to education bill Monday night; at 6 o'clock he will have a reception and idea-swap with the second third of the Senate (again); and Wednesday night he will have a reception and idea-swap with the third third of the Senate (again).

Johnson manages to stay in print practically every day by doing something or saying something, although the general public has no idea of what a talker the President is.

He has many, many sessions with newsmen, singly or in groups, with the understanding he won't be quoted directly or, depending on what he is saying, at all. In some of these group sessions he has talked as much as three hours.

His complete domination of the executive branch of the government, at least, can be illustrated by what two men above all others say, or rather what they don't say: Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Quiet Technician
Rusk is the quiet, technician type who apparently expects the top man to do the talking anyway, which is quite a contrast with President Dwight D. Eisenhower's secretary of state, John Foster Dulles.

Rusk was a pale figure even under President John F. Kennedy but under Johnson he has become almost shadowy, saying hardly anything, and when he does talk it's mostly the obvious, or a banality, or a repetition of something Johnson has said or some line Johnson has laid down.

This is true of all the Cabinet members who, when they do have to say something, do it with a minimum of commotion and disappear off stage again.

Lots of Talks
Humphrey, twice as ebullient as Johnson when he was in the Senate and before he became vice president, has been making a lot of talks to various groups, including an international azalea festival, but is strictly a salesman for what Johnson calls the "Great Society" or for whatever else Johnson is pushing.

Only in looking back over the past three months can it be realized how great is the silence that has settled down over almost everyone in Washington except Johnson.

There's comparative quietude even in Congress which has been outdoing itself to give Johnson what he wants.

Democrats Complain
Southern Democrats have complained about his bill to assure Negroes' voting rights but even they seem less noisy, as if reconciled to the reality that they will be overrun by the rest of the Congress in filling Johnson's requests.

In one area — this country's policy in Viet Nam — Johnson, and therefore everyone connected with it, was almost speechless except for a few repeated phrases until criticism climbed about the silence.

To offset that, Johnson talked to the nation last week. But foreign affairs are the one field where he has had least experience. When he feels more sure of himself, he'll probably talk twice as much as he does now.

Area Legislators Offer Tax Bill for Disabled

MADISON — Northern Wisconsin Democratic assem- blymen are among the principal authors of a proposal that would provide property tax relief for totally and permanently dis-abled persons according to the precedent approved by the legislature two years ago for persons over the age of 65.

They are Assemblymen Wil-liam Rogers of Kaukauna, Mc-Dougal of Oconto Falls and Herbert Grover of Shawano.

Under the 1963 act, elderly persons are eligible for state income tax credits, either in cash reimbursement or in tax deductions, for property taxes or rentals paid in a ratio determined by their annual incomes.

State officials have recently reported, however, that because the law is new and not yet familiar to most of the elderly population of the state, claims for such refunds or tax deduc-tions are far below the volume estimated when the act was written under the sponsorship of former Gov. John W. Reynolds.

Three-Pronged Wisdom Tooth Missing Item From Woman's Purse

The small pair of pliers in the purse, according to the owner, was for yanking and pulling at troublesome zippers.

But the wisdom tooth with three roots dangling, was one the owner could not explain.

Appleton police were given the listing after the owner reported the theft of the purse from a local tavern Saturday.

The leather purse and some of the contents and papers were found in the Little Chute dump Sunday.

Police had to report, however, that the pliers and the tooth still were among the missing.

Private School Aids Estimated At $3 Million

'Equalization' Grants Sought for Students in Colleges in State

MADISON — Substantial "equalization" grants by the state treasury for the benefit of Wisconsin students attending privately supported and accred-ited colleges in Wisconsin could be financed for less than $3 million a year, the state legisla-ture has been informed in an analysis made by the State Department of Public Welfare.

Under bi-partisan sponsorship, the legislature has received a bill intended to recognize the problem of rapidly rising costs of tuition in the private schools and the difficulties of students and parents in meeting them.

It envisions a system of state contributions to students in such schools where the tuition charged is more than $400 a year, on a scale related to the income of the student or of the person responsible for his support.

Welfare Department

The program would be admin-istered by the State Department of Public Welfare, which al-ready is in charge of adminis-tration of the big and growing state-financed program of loans to public and private college students.

The amount of cash tuition grants provided in the bill would range from $50 to $150 a semester for undergraduate stu-dents, and from $100 to $200 per semester for the first year of graduate or professional study and from $150 to $300 in advanced graduate or profes-sional study beyond the first year. The Charter Ordinance and Anti-Secrecy Law

With the state legislature considering amendments to improve the anti-secrecy law, an objective explanation is in order to shed light on the requirements of existing legislation as it applies to municipal governing bodies in dealing with personnel and related problems.

In a recent report to the Wisconsin Newspaper League, The Post-Crescent could not recall any recent instances in the Fox Cities where public bodies violated the intent of the open meeting law—specifically Section 14.90. It states in part: "No formal action of any kind shall be introduced, deliberated upon, or adopted at any closed executive session or closed meeting of any such body."

The law lists exceptions under which executive meetings of municipal bodies can be held, and personnel matters fall directly in that category. The Feb. 17 meeting of the Appleton Common Council is an example of a legally-constituted executive session when aldermen met to discuss "personnel matters and the resignation of the city finance director." This was stated in advance of the session, in keeping with the law, by the presiding officer.

Because the finance director indicated in his sudden resignation that his office was lacking cooperation from certain department heads and under existing circumstances it would be impossible to properly carry out the functions of the office, the Common Council without doubt had a personnel problem on its hands, not necessarily confined to one area.

Tax Reckoning Time

President Johnson's remark that he had to go out and borrow $100,000 this year to pay his income taxes is unlikely to have won him much sympathy. Neither the President nor members of the Democratic party in Congress deserve condolences since their political motives are to blame for the heavier financial woes which have afflicted a lot of taxpayers this April.

The income tax cut was loudly promoted as a stimulation to the economy. With more money in the pockets, the American public was bound to spend it on other things. There is some validity to this argument although we have generally opposed such cuts unless consistent economies are made in the government's spending programs.

But when the new law also cut back the amount withheld from pay envelopes from 18 per cent to 14 per cent, the Democrats obviously had their eyes on the fall elections. After the executive session, aldermen returned to the council chambers, officially convened a public meeting, and recommended that a charter ordinance be prepared to change the offices of city clerk, treasurer, assessor and city attorney from elective to appointive. Based on the closed-door discussion which covered city hall personnel problems, actions and performances of some individuals, the council concluded there was reason to make administrative positions appointive to insure better efficiency and continuity in municipal government.

State law says no formal action of any kind shall be introduced, deliberated upon, etc., at an executive session. On the night of Feb. 17 the first formal deliberation, action and what have you was taken at the public meeting of the Common Council. In this instance, the Council acted within the law and since then both the city clerk and city attorney have attested to the legality of the charter ordinance.

Three years ago there was an incident, however, in which the Common Council did not clarify its reason for holding an executive session and then The Post-Crescent reporter challenged the municipal governing body and refused to leave the conference room until the purpose of the meeting (a personnel matter) was designated.

Responsible newsmen represent the public's right to know. We intend to keep it that way.

elections. After all, if people didn't feel they were paying less taxes, they were unlikely to indicate enthusiasm for the program at the polls. A decrease in the withholding percentage commensurate with the actual cut in rates would have been reasonable and understandable. But the law went further, without bothering to publicize that by cutting that far back on withholding, most taxpayers were bound to have a bigger bill at reckoning time in April.

The Internal Revenue Service has offered to soothe some taxpayers by giving them an extra few months if the pinch is really bad. This only serves to prolong the agony. But as far as politics is concerned, this is an off year. Presumably by the fall of 1966 and certainly by the time of the next presidential election, taxpayers will be up to date again and all will be forgiven.

U. S. in the Middle in Middle East

The United States is in the middle of another dilemma in the Middle East and we are likely to be damned either way.

The regime of King Hussein of Jordan is relatively pro-Western, at least in comparison to such Arab nations as the United Arab Republic. Although Jordan borders Israel, it is also not as violently intent upon destroying Israel as is the U.A.R. King Hussein and his country have served as a calming influence upon the hot tempers on the Middle East and something of a buffer between the Israelis and other Arabs.

But this very position of neutrality also endangers Jordan. The Soviet Union has been sending a considerable amount of modern military equipment to Nasser, hoping to do its bit to make trouble. Hussein of course has enemies in his own country and there has always been a considerable amount of pro-Nasser agitation from without to oust Hussein. Obviously he must maintain military strength.

Over the years the United States has sent Jordan about $36 million worth of arms. Although the State Department is currently keeping very mum about the whole business, there are reports that Hussein is requesting a lot more, including M-48 tanks. And at the same time, Israel, its source of arms from West Germany cut when some Arab nations threatened to recognize East Germany, has turned once more toward the United States for military equipment.

It seems to make little sense that we should be supplying both sides with the means of making war upon each other. There is also the very real and present danger that Hussein, in spite of our help—or perhaps because of it—might be overthrown and Jordan surely would not then send back the tanks.

It isn't a simple matter. The purpose of military equipment, of course, would appear to be to wage war. But, as our own Strategic Air Command has demonstrated in Europe, strength in military weapons is also a deterrent to attack.

In all probability the best way to avoid a war in the Middle East is for both sides to appear strong enough to make a lot of trouble in case of attack and put the question of victory in doubt. But the problem increases when there are not clear cut lines of demarcation as in the case of Jordan.

Huntsville, Ala., April 11, 1865—The following is just received from Col. Hoover, at Somerville, for information of the Secretary of War: Men directly through from Selma report that place captured by Gen. Wilson's forces on the 2nd inst. Forrest and Rhoddy, with their entire commands, were captured. Our men dismounted and charged the entrenchments, and carried all before them.

They also report Montgomery captured.

A Vicksburg paper confirms the reported capture of Selma, Ala., but says that Forrest succeeded in making his escape.

People's Forum

Another Young Woman Answers Letter on Dr. King and Wallace

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I would like to submit this letter in reply to one that appeared in the People's Forum on Friday, April 2, by Miss Delores Stoeger.

You described Wallace as "the only one who has been keeping peace down in Alabama." Peace is dependent upon the preservation of rights. One basic right secured by the constitution is the right of the people to assemble peaceably. When the people in Alabama attempted to assemble peaceably, Gov. Wallace told his troopers to "use any means necessary" to stop the demonstration. So people were beaten. Billy clubs met heads and backs; tear gas stung eyes and throats. This is keeping the peace?

Another statement: "Don't they know what's behind Martin Luther King's pushing, pushing the Negro into hate?" I do know. I would like to quote Dr. King: "I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed. We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal." This is what is behind Dr. King. As for "pushing the Negro into hate, hate the whites," you have made obvious your lack of knowledge about this man, Dr. King. Again, I quote US News and World Report, March 21,

1960, page 76: "Our aim is not to defeat or to humiliate the white man, but to win his friendship and understanding." And from Life, November 7, 1960, page 126: "After King's house had been bombed one night, and armed and angry Negro mob gathered outside. A small group of white city officials had come to investigate the damage and it seemed inevitable that they would be attacked. At this moment King stepped out on his porch and held up his hands for silence. 'We must love our white brothers,' he said to the crowd, 'no matter what they do to us. We must make them know we love them.' Under his spell the mob dispersed and the relieved officials hurriedly escaped. One policeman's normal supremacist viewpoint was almost completely shattered by gratitude. 'That nigger preacher saved our lives' he said."

How can you translate this into "pushing the Negro into hate"?

As for Dr. King's background. Another statement: "Negroes do not want to mix with whites." I was in Selma just a couple of weeks ago. Those people are risking their lives daily for the cause of integration. They want equal rights and opportunities. The very idea, the basic concept of segregation suggests inequality. After all, if we're equal why must we be separated. And we are equal. So integration is the only way. Have you ever listened to the words of "We Shall Overcome?" One verse goes like this: "Black and white together. We shall overcome."

People are just people. Only the very superficial difference of skin color exists, and that is such a meaningless thing. I too, have my doubts about this being a free country. You see, I believe a man should be able to live where he wants, at where he wants, go to school where he wants. I believe we should judge a person by his own individual merits. It should be no matter of concern whether his skin happens to be a few shades darker.

Dr. King is no agitator. A restless people need no agitator. The Negro people are not content with the kind of life they are forced to live. They never have been.

You seem to be worried about Communism taking over the country. This is a legitimate concern, but if you want to root out Communist influence you have to know where it actually exists. Negroes, on the whole, are struggling to promote American ideals; Christian ideals. Communists certainly are not.

Perhaps you should examine groups like the "Ku Klux Klan" or the "American Nazi Party" if you are seeking to rid the country of anti-Americanism. Take a closer look at your man Wallace. With enemies like him Communism needs no friends.

I suggest that you examine this matter more closely. Maybe you'll write another letter to the Post-Crescent with just as much fire, but this time with truth and righteousness to back you up.

I would be happy to give my views on anything you may write. For I, too, am an eighteen year old American patriot who is very concerned.

Wisconsin Report

How Do You Explain Votes for Unqualified Head of State Schools

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—The reason why an election is such a durable conversation piece is that every election day series of results turns in so many electoral decisions that are inexplicable on their face.

Perhaps the conclusions of the voters of Wisconsin last week illustrate the case as well as any that have been recorded lately.

How can any observer of political events explain with anything approaching plausibility the fact that a virtually anonymous candidate who made not even the pretense of a campaign could pile up 228,000 votes in a tight election against an incumbent state superintendent of public instruction when no audible issue has been raised?

The most prominent of the publicity dispatches about the contest for this important office clearly related the fact that Supt. Rothwell's challenger could not have taken his office had he won it because he did not have the professional license that the law sets out as a requirement. Yet about one out of three voters who marked his ballot for the office which has more importance to the public service system than any other decided to vote for Mr. Wollenburg.

THE REFERENDA

If there is a tendency among some persons to attribute such astonishing results to popular inattention, here is some corroboration to be had in the votes recorded on two constitutional amendment questions.

One related to modifying the anti-lottery provisions of the constitutional law to the extent that some national commercial contest promotions would be valid within the state. There were some cautious persons and organizations who opposed that amendment. They held that it might be the opening wedge for future erosions of the law to permit commercial gambling. Or at the very least, it might habituate the electorate to accepting changes in the anti-lottery spirit of the state constitution that has remained without change for more than a century.

Concurrently the ballots last week offered an amendment to authorize the abolition of the thoroughly obsolete, skeletal, functionless, outdated offices of coroner, and surveyor in Milwaukee County. As far as this column knows, there was no public opposition to that proposition expressed anywhere, by any group or person purporting to represent the public interest, before the balloting.

Yet there was a substantial margin of approval for the lottery law modification, suggesting that the electors knew exactly what they wanted done, while there was a doubtful result on the elimination of the atrophied county offices in Milwaukee. Were the voters watching the one issue, and understanding it, and voting their real desires on the former, and uninformed on the other? The puzzle invites the contemplation of the political philosophers.

FOOTNOTE

As a footnote to the electorate's decisions, the voting pattern in the Supreme Court election is likely to have more intense study than any other election returns of the kind in recent times.

Not only was the tiny victory margin of Justice Heffernan remarkable, considering the whole history of such elections and the circumstances of last week, but it showed a distribution of electoral preference that will be studiously reflected upon in the privacy of the judges' chambers. Candidate Boyle carried a heavy majority of the counties. The surface explanation is that these were largely the rural counties. It is a part of the explanation, but it is not enough. The conservatives vote more regularly and normally carry a greater punch in light spring elections as a consequence. But was there also a strong if silent resentment against the court in the rural precincts, as on the reapportionment decisions?

For the record, the next incumbent judge who must face the voters is Justice Thomas E. Fairchild, probably the intellectual leader of the liberals on the state bench, who is expected to seek a new term a year hence.

Why don't pronouncing handbooks for radio and television announcers write it large and plain that:

Reading the List of wines was almost as much fun as tasting the various kinds. Above, looking over the offerings, are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Besser, Neenah, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Treat Thomas, Menasha. At right, party chairmen Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bailey have their wine served by Mrs. Mary Ann Kosmosky, Sherwood. The party opened North Shore's Spring social season.

April at North Shore Golf Club was more than a little like April in Paris Saturday evening as members opened their social season with a 'Spring on the Left Bank' party.

The evening began in typical French fashion, with wine-tasting and hors d'oeuvres hour in the dining room. Dinner was served cabaret style in the ballroom, with small tables lining the walls and the center open for dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Bailey were chairmen of the evening's party.

Too Tasty to Pass Up was the verdict given the delicacies at the hors d'oeuvres table. At right, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Yankus whet their dinner appetites. Below, Mrs. R. G. # Allow for Extra Servings If Feeding Large Groups

When serving a wedding dinner, church supper or family market order, the hardest part of making a feast is figuring out how much food to buy. Figuring amounts is no easy task. To make the planning and marketing job easier the next time, keep a record of the food item and the recipe used, the portion size served, the number of portions used, the amount of food bought, the price per pound or box and the total spend for each food. Note also if there was any food leftover. The next food specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

To figure food for plates served in the kitchen and for seconds offered, plan for a third or a half of the adult guests to take seconds. Probably at least two-thirds will take seconds on coffee, rolls and butter.

Server For Meat
For help-yourself serving guests may load their plates the first time through and still take seconds. Having someone to serve the main meat dish or cutting foods into serving sizes helps control this somewhat.

As the market order is figured, be sure to know the size of serving for each food. Lost quantity recipes say that they give 50 servings of a half- or other size serving. Check that this is an amount suitable for the meal you're planning.

Using standardized recipes planned for large amounts makes figuring the market order an easy task. Total the number times 50 or 100 that are to be served and make the recipe enough times, rather than doubling recipes. Plan for all-cup and other sizes of glasses or cups to use in dish- ing food so that each person receives a uniform amount.

Plan Market Order
Finding exactly how many people to plan for is perhaps the hardest part of making a feast. Church groups that sell tickets and have some records of past dinners probably can estimate quite accurately. To make the planning and marketing job easier the next time, keep a record of the food item and the recipe used, the portion size served, the number of portions used, the amount of food bought, the price per pound or box and the total spend for each food. Note also if there was any food leftover. The next food specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

Small Slam Depends on Finesse

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Many experts would treat North's jump to four notrump as a general invitation to slam. As a general invitation to slam, South should pass. On this basis, South should pass four notrump if he has minimum values for his opening bid of one notrump. If South makes any bid at all over four notrump, he shows at least a slight interest in a slam.

In this case South bids five diamonds to show his long suit. If South had more than 16 points in high cards he would bid five or six notrump instead of just hinting at the slam by showing a long suit.

As it happens, North needs no further encouragement. He knows that his king-queen of diamonds will be precious jewels, so he jumps to six notrump. Since South has only ten tricks in top cards he must develop two other tricks. The best start is to try a finesse with the jack of clubs immediately after winning the first trick with dummy's queen of diamonds.

The club finesse loses, and West gets out safely with another diamond. South tests the clubs by taking the king and ace, discovering that he can win an eleventh trick with dummy's last club. Only one further trick is needed — either in hearts or in spades.

Runs Diamonds.
As a first step South runs the rest of his diamonds, hoping to embarrass one of the opponents. He can safely discard a heart and two spades from the dummy. But then he must choose his finesse — hearts or spades.

One finesse is as good as the other, but South can improve his chances by making a try of some kind in the suit that he does not plan to finesse with. The best combination shot is to lead out the ace and king of hearts. If the queen fails to drop declarer can fall back on the spade finesse.

As it happens, the queen of hearts does drop, and South is home without the need of a further finesse.

Daily Question
As dealer, you hold: S 9 8 6, H A K J 4, D K Q, C K 6 3 2. What do you say?
Answer: Bid one notrump. This shows 16 to 18 points at high cards (this hand counts 16 points), with strength in at least three suits and balanced (no very long or very short suits).

Accidents Leading Killer of Americans

Americans live dangerously. This is the conclusion drawn from the grim statistics recently released by the U.S. Public Health Service.

Accidents killed 104,000 people in 1964, and were the leading cause of death among Americans aged one to 34.

Some 53,000,000 Americans were hurt seriously enough last year to require medical attention or restrict their activity one day or more.

Accidents in and around the home accounted for about 45 per cent of all injuries. Put another way, some 23,000,000 Americans (out of the total of 53,000,000 injured) were hurt right on home ground.

Dear S. O. S.: Dyeing and selling baby chicks is illegal in some states. (Illinois for one.) The penalty, however, is not stiff enough to deter a pet shop owner who wants to engage in the practice. The law reads: "A fine of not less than $5 and not more than $200, and confiscation of the chicks."

The Anti-Cruelty Society would like to discourage the sale of chicks as toys. Aside from the fact that most youngsters unwittingly abuse them, chicks need warmth (about 90 degree temperature) and most homes are too cold for their survival.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My uncle was buried last Thursday. When I tell you we have at least 100 relatives in this town I am not exaggerating.

This uncle was a nice person and everyone liked him. His wife is a living, breathing chunk of ice who could hold a convention of all her friends in a telephone booth.

After the funeral my husband and I went to the cemetery and then home. We learned the next day that the whole crowd was there. What is the house for propriety of getting gifts for the young lady? Should we begin to put out Why would she do this? Even in her grief she managed to insult me. Please comment.

Put Out: Relatives and close friends customarily gather at the home of the bereaved after a funeral. It is not a party. Nobody gets invited. They just go.

Relatives, friends and neighbors usually assume the responsibility of bringing, preparing and serving the food. Your letter is a good example of how people sometimes blame others when the fault lies with themselves.

When necking becomes petting, watch out! To learn how the smart girl keeps both her dignity and her boy friend, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing your request 20 cents in coin as if it were a rubber ball. The announcement is time enough, and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Easter will soon be here and I would like to express my views on something that has been bothering me since last year when I attended an Easter Sunday brunch at the home of friends.

These friends have three children under six years of age. As an Easter gift the parents gave their youngsters some baby chicks dyed shades of pink, blue and green. The children were squeezing, chok- ing and torturing the baby chicks without realizing what they were doing.

The two-year-old threw the little pink chick against the wall. The announcement is time enough, and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.
